

AquaPure™ Bio 140-AN

Anaerobic Wastewater Treatment Microbial Aid

Aquapure Bio 140-AN is a blend of facultative microorganisms and biochemical accelerators formulated for use in optimizing anaerobic reactors, digesters and lagoons that treat industrial and municipal wastewater. Aquapure Bio 140-AN is designed to enhance microbial diversity along with promoting vigorous microbial activity, thereby optimization the anaerobic treatment processes of; Hydrolysis, Acidogenesis, Acetogenesis, and ultimately Methanogenesis. The bacteria in this product produce multiple types of enzymes that allow for the effective biodegradation of proteins, fats and a wide variety of carbohydrates, in addition to enhancing digestion rates. This action allows for more consistent and balanced treatment performance with less upsets. Use of Aquapure Bio 140-AN will increase biological activity and increase clarity of the supernate.

Features & Benefits

- Rapid upset recovery and startup
- Optimize performance (BOD, TSS removal, Effluent Turbidity)
- Increase BioGas (methane) generation,
- Enhance supernatant clarity
- Reduce offensive odor emission
- Enhance digestion rate
- Expand and optimize overall system performance while maintaining quality

Physical Data

Product	Dormant bacterial cultures
Form	Dry, free-flowing powder
Color	Beige to light brown
Viability	Minimum 4 billion CFU/g

Typical Applications

- Municipal and Industrial Wastewater Treatment Anaerobic Units
- Anaerobic Reactors
- UASB Reactors
- Lagoons
- Digester

Operating Conditions

Aquapure Bio 140-AN may be added to a pre-anaerobic unit mix tank or directly to the digester, reactor or lagoon.
